City, County To Put Bond Issue to Vote

$500,000 Is Sought For Fifth Floor and Elevator at Hospital

An agreement to take the necessary steps to place a bond issue on the fall ballot for a fifth floor at General Hospital was reached by the finance committee of City Council and the county commissioners Tuesday night.

The group agreed also to set the bond issue at $500,000. The hospital board of governors requested the action Thursday, suggesting a bond issue of $450,000 to $500,000.

The council finance committee asked City Solicitor Riley Hall to prepare necessary city legislation for consideration by council at its July 14 meeting.

Commissioners Pledge Aid

If council approves the legislation and it is signed immediately by Mayor Wendell L. Strong, the county commissioners said they would adopt a resolution July 15 to place the issue on the ballot.

Mr. Hall explained that if the issue is to be on the November ballot, the commissioners' resolution must be in the hands of the county auditor by no later than July 16.

Asked by Harold Smith (D-at large), finance committee chairman, if he would sign the city legislation immediately if council adopts it, Mayor Strong said: "I am not going to publicly commit myself at this time."

The group last night also decided to include a proposed third elevator at the hospital as part of the fifth floor construction cost. A previous proposal was to pay for this elevator from the hospital operating balance.

No Funds Released

The hospital board of governors had proposed that everything in the operating balance over $200,000 be made available for capital improvements.

This request was, in effect, denied last night. The consensus among officials present was that the operating balance should not be disturbed until the over-all economic picture has shown considerable improvement.

A $750,000 bond issue, which would have paid for a fifth floor and other improvements at the hospital, was defeated at the polls last November. Needing 55 per cent approval, it received 49 per cent. The other improvements were an expanded parking lot, teaching center and service building.

Says They're Written Off To Business

Industrialist Asserts Nothing Wrong With Distributing Presents

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lawyer for Bernard Goldfine said today Goldfine charged off as a business expense hotel bills paid for Sherman Adams and the cost of an expensive Oriental rug which Adams has testified was a loan.

Attorney Roger Robb gave this account after a House hearing at which Goldfine read a statement denying there was anything out of line in his relationship with Adams, No. 1 aide to President Eisenhower.

Didn't Go Into Question

In the statement, Goldfine did not go into the business expense question which some House subcommittee members say can be the most important matter of evidence in their inquiry into relations between Goldfine and Adams.

Goldfine and Adams have pictured Goldfine's favors as those of friendship. They denied under oath that Adams pulled federal strings for Goldfine.

But if the favors are shown to have been written off as business expenses for tax purposes, the subcommittee members said, then that will show that Goldfine meant to get a business value in return.

The hearing itself was pretty much a plodding affair — given over to Goldfine's reading away at his statement. He didn't finish it before the committee recessed for the day.

In developments outside the hearing room:

1. Robb told newsmen of the tax deductions he said Goldfine had made for the gifts to Adams.

2. President Eisenhower indicated — without saying anything definitely — that the question of whether Adams is to stay as his top assistant may not be finally settled. Specifically, Eisenhower declined to say whether he is reconsidering his decision.

3. Goldfine, in a talk before TV cameras outside the hearing room, denied he ever bought a house for Adams or gave Adams an interest in his textile mills.

Assails Testimony

Goldfine bitterly assailed previous testimony before the House investigating subcommittee by former Boston Publisher John Fox.

Fox had told the subcommittee he heard Goldfine brag of buying a house for Adams in Washington

Raps House Committee

Aid Cuts Risking Security, Ike Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today accused the House Appropriations Committee of taking reckless risks with the nation's security in voting to cut foreign aid funds nearly 600 million dollars.

In a statement at a press conference, Eisenhower said emphatically that the committee "has taken action that seriously endangers our security."

Eisenhower said further:

"It is my deep conviction that reductions of a size contemplated by the committee will have grave consequences in portions of the free world, and to our nation's security—and will encourage Communist imperialists."

Third Appeal in Week

Eisenhower's statement was his third appeal in a week for restoration of the committee-voted reduction. He originally asked Congress for $3,942,000,000 in mutual security funds for the fiscal year which started Tuesday.

Congress, in an authorization bill Eisenhower signed earlier this week, cut that total by nearly 300 million dollars. The House Appropriations Committee whacked an additional 600 million from the administration's original request.

At the outset of the news conference, Eisenhower announced he wanted to read a statement on the foreign aid money situation.

Outlines Choice

He proceeded to read it in forceful, emphatic tones. This was the climax:

"We have this choice:

"Stand up and be counted, live up to our ideals and purposes and assume the responsibilities that are ours;

"Or, shrug our shoulders, say that freedom for others has no significance for us, is therefore no responsibility of ours, and so let international communism gain the ultimate victory.

"The choice is clear for me.

"I stand for American security, to be attained and sustained by cooperation with our friends of the free world. I am certain the Amer-

Harmony Is Keynote for Atomic Talk

Geneva Conference Goes Into Second Day After Favorable Start

GENEVA (AP)—Atomic experts from both sides of the Iron Curtain gathered today for the second session of their conference on ways to detect violations of a ban on nuclear weapon tests. The eight-nation meeting got off to a favorable, friendly start Tuesday.

After an opening public session, the two teams of scientists headed by the United States and the Soviet Union met behind closed doors for more than an hour. They agreed on the agenda proposed by the United States and a jaw-breaking conference name.

The order of business calls for a scientific and technical review of methods for detecting nuclear explosions and then formulation of recommendations for location of detection stations.

The conference leaders, Dr. James B. Fisk of the United States and Yevgeni K. Fedorov of the Soviet Union, predicted that the delegates, through their common ground as scientists, would be able to reach agreement.

In speeches at the public ceremony, both Fisk and Fedorov confirmed that the talks would be limited to technical aspects of detection of nuclear explosions.

Aides said this would include the capacity of detecting instruments and how they could be fitted into a worldwide network that would immediately give warning of an unauthorized explosion.

Railroad Crash Jolts 30 at Alexandria, Va.

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — A train letting off passengers was rammed from behind Tuesday by a second train pulling into Union Station. About 30 persons were hurt slightly or shaken up.

A Seaboard Air Line train was standing in the depot when it was struck by a Chesapeake & Ohio train. Both were northbound for Washington, across the Potomac River from Alexandria.

William W. Roberts, 73-year-old engineer of the C&O train, said the brakes failed. He estimated his speed at between 8 and 10 miles an hour at the time.

Missing in Cuba

Castro May Hold 2 U.S. Diplomats

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Lack of word from two U.S. consuls who went into the hills of eastern Cuba to seek release of kidnaped North Americans aroused speculation today that Fidel Castro's rebels might be holding the diplomats also.

The U.S. Embassy in Havana had expected the consuls to return by Tuesday with some report on the 47 Americans and three Canadians seized by rebels in east Cuba since Thursday.

Park Wollam, consul at Santiago, was reported to have made contact with rebels near the town of Moa, where 12 engineers were kidnaped, after going into the hills Sunday morning.

Robert Wiecha, vice consul at Santiago, reportedly entered the back country around Guantanamo Bay Sunday afternoon to seek release of 30 servicemen from the U.S. naval station at Guantanamo.

The rebels also are holding two American managers of a nickel plant and two sugar mill executives, an American and a Canadian, picked up over the weekend, plus four American agricultural experts for United Fruit Co. seized on a raid Monday night.

More than 100 American families live in the Guantanamo Bay area. Roads there are being patrolled and curfews enforced in an effort to prevent further kidnapings.

During Castro's abortive offensive last April to overthrow President Fulgencio Batista, the American families were given refuge on the Navy base. Its commander, Rear Adm. R. B. Ellis, said similar orders have not been issued so far but the base is ready to shelter the families if necessary.

Secretary of State Dulles said in Washington Tuesday that the rebels are trying to blackmail the United States into intervening in Cuba. Dulles said there will be no U.S. intervention and the United States will not pay blackmail for release of the Americans.

The New York Times said today that a Cuban army drive to crush the rebels has collapsed in failure.

Chinese Reds Tightening Up In Restrictions

LONDON (AP) — Britain disclosed today that Red China has clamped new restrictions on diplomats in Peiping and has arrested a number of Chinese servants working for foreign diplomatic missions.

Informed government sources expressed the view that a widespread political purge is under way.

A Foreign Office spokesman said that under new regulations, the Chinese had cut the distance foreign diplomats are free to travel outside Peiping without a pass to 12 miles. The old limit was 35 miles.

Britain applies a similar 35-mile limit on the movement of Red Chinese and other Communist diplomats in this country. The Spokesman said no request from a Chinese official wishing to go beyond that limit has yet been turned down.

British authorities say they do not know the reason for the arrest of Chinese servants working for foreign missions in Peiping.

150 Goodrich Workers Here Get Pay Hike

Raise of 8 Cents Given To 33,000 Employes Of Two Rubber Firms

Some 150 employes at the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant near Green Camp will come in for an 8-cent hourly pay raise under an agreement reached Tuesday night in Cleveland.

The pay raise will affect some 33,000 rubber workers employed in Goodrich and Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plants throughout the nation.

The agreement was reached by the two companies and the United Rubber Workers union less than an hour before the midnight deadline for strike action.

The pay raise, effective with the June 30 pay period, brings the average Goodyear hourly straight-time wage to $2.60. The Goodrich rate now will be $2.59.

Letter Sent to Khrushchev

Russia Disrupts Summit Parley Plans, Ike Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today accused the Soviet Union of having disrupted diplomatic preparations for a summit conference. He said this "cannot but cast doubt" on Soviet intentions toward a top-level meeting

His accusation was in a letter to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. The communication paralleled similar messages from leaders of Britain and France.

Two Major Points

The Western officials told the Soviet leaders:

1. They consider a summit meeting if it would provide an opportunity for serious East-West discussion of major problems and for reaching important agreements.

2. Charges by Khrushchev that the Western powers are trying to prevent a summit meeting by proposing unacceptable issues, are unwarranted. Khrushchev made such charges in letters June 11.

The White House made public Eisenhower's letter. Earlier dispatches from Moscow had reported that U.S., British and French messages had been delivered to the Foreign Office by the embassies of the three Western powers.

Khrushchev's June 11 letter provided the basis for Eisenhower's charge that the Soviet government had broken up diplomatic negotiations on a summit conference. Prior to June 11 those preparations had been under way in Moscow for more than a month.

Eisenhower said the Soviet government is apparently unwilling to negotiate seriously on concrete points at issue. He added that in spite of this, the Western powers do not propose to abandon hope or to relax their efforts to seek solutions of the major outstanding problems.

Procedural Proposal

"If the Soviet government is equally serious in pursuing this goal," Eisenhower said, "It will accept the procedural proposal put forward by the Western powers or advance some equally effective and workable alternative."

The procedural proposal was that in meetings between Western ambassadors and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, both sides should have the right to bring up and discuss anything without either side having a veto.

This would permit the Western powers to bring up such issues as Eastern Europe and German unification, to which the Soviet Union violently objects; while the Soviet government would be able to press propositions which the West has frowned on, such as an East-West nonaggresion pact.

Khrushchev's letter included a review of proposals the Soviet Union had made for summit conference discussion. The Western powers contended that violated an understanding that the proceedings would be kept quiet.

$1,000 Needed For July 4th Activities Here

An additional $1,000 is needed to cover the cost of a planned communitywide Fourth of July celebration at Lincoln Park.

This was determined at a report meeting of the Marion July 4th Celebration Committee, Inc., held Tuesday night at the Mark St. fire station.

William Luse, committee treasurer, reported that after current debts are deducted from contributions received so far the cash balance will be only about $850.

Total cost of the observance including a huge fireworks display in the evening will be about $1,850, Mr. Luse said.

He reported that the fireworks display already is contracted for at a cost of $1,650 and will be staged in full even though the committee currently may not have the funds to pay for it. He said if sufficient contributions are not received the committee will have to seek other means to pay for the celebration, such as sponsoring dances and other fund-raising activities.

The official program at the park will begin at 1:30 p.m. and continue through the fireworks display

Sails Into Test Area

Owner of Yacht Defies AEC Edict, Faces Trial

HONOLULU (AP) — A pacifist anthropologist, abandoning his challenge to "sink me to take me," sailed out of the Pacific H-bomb test area today under arrest for violating Atomic Energy Commission regulations.

Under the escort of the Coast Guard cutter Planetree, Earle L. Reynolds, bespectacled, scholarly professor, steered his 50-foot yacht Phoenix toward the mid-Pacific atoll of Kwajalein.

The cutter halted the yacht Tuesday 65 miles inside the zone and forced it to leave the forbidden danger area. Coastguardmen boarded the craft and arrested Reynolds, an outspoken foe of nuclear testing.

Disregards 2 Warnings

An official announcement said Reynolds sailed his craft into the prohibited area despite two warnings since Sunday.

Apparently no action was taken against the other four persons on the Phoenix—Reynold's wife, Barbara; daughter Jessica, 14; son Tex, 19; and Nick Mikami, 35, a crew member from Hiroshima, Japan.

The announcement from the Pacific military headquarters here said Reynolds, 48, will be flown from Kwajalein to Honolulu to face charges of violating AEC regulations forbidding Americans to enter the Eniwetok testing grounds. The yacht is expected to reach Kwajalein in three days.

Calls Interference Piracy

Before leaving Honolulu June 11, Reynolds said he regarded any interference on the high seas an act of piracy. He added, "They will have to sink me to take me."

The skipper said he had the greatest respect and sympathy for the crew members of the ketch Golden Rule and "complete belief in the righteousness of their cause." Four men were convicted of contempt of court and jailed for attempting to sail the Golden Rule into the Eniwetok area in defiance of the federal court.

Reynolds formerly was associate professor of anthropology at Antioch College and chairman of the department of physical growth Fels Research Institute for Study of Human Development, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

In 1951, Iowa-born Reynolds was asked by the National Academy of Sciences to go to Japan to study effects of atomic radiation on growth of Hiroshima children. He worked with the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission in Hiroshima from 1951 to 1954.

U.S.-Canadian Trade Dollars Needed

Seaway Holds Out Financial Hope for Europeans

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — From across the Atlantic, many Europeans are looking to the St. Lawrence Seaway in trying to chart a course out of their own business and monetary shoals.

The trade dollars of the United States and Canada, of course, are their objectives.

Toledo Blade writer Alan F. Schoedel in a 3-week tour of European ports, found France making a particularly well-organized effort to increase its sales to the United States.

Second of a Series

Part of the drive is aimed at making French industry break away from the idea that if it sells to New York, it is selling to America.

Thus the seaway, the water link to the middle of America, is important to French interests.

In recent years, France has seen the "dollar gap"—the difference between its purchases from the U. S. and its sales to the U. S. —go from bad to worse.

LAST YEAR, France purchased 900 million dollars worth of American goods but sold only 300 million dollars worth to this nation.

To help level it off is the purpose of the Comite Franc-Dollar, sponsored jointly by French industry and the French government and known in English as the committee for the development of French exports to North America.

It is know that French industry is hard put to keep up with domestic demand for its own products. So why the need to develop new markets in North America?

Alain Rysto, secretary of Comite Franc-Dollar, explained that French industry must buy raw materials, equipment and unfinished goods from the United States. It can't do this unless " also sells goods to North America to provide France with dollar purchasing power.

RYSTO'S ASSISTANT, Michel Casati-Ollier, said the failure of French industry to see past New York is deeply rooted in years of shipping through East Coast ports.

The trouble with that, he said, is that the New York distributors often cover only a limited territory.

Leaders of the Comite Franc-Dollar feel the lakes ports would have much more to gain by a cooperative drive for the foreign market than from their present method of competing individually.

The committee is enthusiastic about an idea by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce to have a representative for all the lakes ports located in Paris. It believes this would prove a boon in opening new markets for France.

In London, another movement which may become beneficial for cities along the seaway was outlined by Adrian J. Liddell Hart, spokesman for Federated British Industries, the British counterpart of America's National Assn. of Manufacturers.

WITH PROBLEMS similar to those of France, Great Britain is striving to increase its trade with Canada.

Liddell Hart believes this activity also will produce more business for ports on the American side of the lakes in two ways:

First, with stimulated Canadian-British commerce, more ships would be moving into the seaway with cargo from Britain. These ships would take the opportunity to load and unload cargo in American ports, whenever possible, to operate at capacity as much as possible.

Second, the eventual goal of the drive is an economically stronger Britain, better able to buy goods from the U. S.-Canadian dollar area on both sides of the lakes.

Liddell Hart said that not too many years ago, the flow of trade between Britain, Canada and the United States was a fairly well-balanced triangle.

But of late, he said, it has gotten increasingly out of balance, with Canada running a deficit in trade with the United States and Britain running a similar deficit in trade with Canada.

Toll revenue from commercial vehicles set a new one-day record of $23,541 from 7,481 users last Wednesday.

The bus driver parked after a motorist told him flames were coming from the motor in the rear. Later, after the driver and the draftees had gotten off, flames burned away the brakes and the bus rolled into a tree.

Sale Ended Russian Dream of Pacific Empire

U.S. Purchase of Alaska World's Best Bargain

By G. K. HODENFIELD
Associated Press Writer

It must have been the strangest real estate deal in history.

Here was a desolate parcel of land thousands of miles from nowhere. The man who owned it figured it was a liability and knew his days as owner were numbered.

So he asked 10 million dollars for it.

The man who wanted to buy it didn't have the slightest idea what he would do with it. He did not know whether the people he worked for would approve. And he certainly didn't know where he was going to get the money.

So he offered five million.

AT 4 A.M. one March day they compromised at just over seven million, sat down at a card table and signed the papers that transferred the vast territory of Alaska from Russia to the United States.

Now, some 91 years later, Alaska will become the 49th state.

It must make the gentlemen in the Kremlin very unhappy.

For $7,200,000 the United States purchased 375,000,000 acres of land —at a price of less than two cents an acre. It acquired billions of feet of timber; streams choked with fish; fabulously rich veins of gold, copper, silver and lead; thousands upon thousands of fur bearing animals.

SAN FRANCISCO
ehg

It was more than just a physical acquisition of land. It was an assumption of power that consolidated the dominant U.S. position on the Pacific slope. And it was a surrender of power that saw Russia abandon her strategic foothold in America and—for years to come—isolate herself from the Western world.

William H. Seward, secretary of state who negotiated the deal for the United States, had no idea what a buy he had made. Baron Edward de Stoeckl, Russian minister in Washington, figured he had come out of the deal lucky.

Seward and de Stoeckl signed their agreement in Washington on March 31, 1867. Half a year later, on Oct. 18, a dream of empire died in the misty rain that swept across Sitka, Alaska.

Capt. Alexei Pestchourov, commissioner of the Czar, barked an order. The double eagle emblem of Imperial Russia moved slowly down the flagpole, then caught in the halyards. A Russian ensign scrambled up the pole, tore the flag loose, and hurled it down on the upturned faces of the Czar's soldiers.

Capt. Pestchourov saluted his American counterpart and said, "By authority from His Majesty, Emperor of all the Russians, I transfer to the United States the territory of Alaska."

There were ghosts of Russia's past in Sitka that day:

The ghost of Nikolai Rezanov, who schemed and dreamed of a Russian city on San Francisco Bay.

Of Alexander Baranov, who planned a series of Russian trading posts down the Pacific coast, supplied from Russian plantations in the Hawaiian Islands.

Of Baranov's faithful lieutenant, Ivan Kuskov, who built Ft. Rossiya (now Ft. Ross) and established a Russian colony just 50 miles north of San Francisco.

These men were empire builders denied their tools, architects of expansion whose plans died on the drawing board. Had their visions and energies been shared in the courts of the czars in St. Petersburg, Alaska might yet belong to Russia; Northern California, Oregon and Washington might today be under the hammer and sickle.

It is a paradoxical picture that history paints of Russia's brave drive from the Volga to the Yukon, and her subsequent timid withdrawal into her massive Siberian shell.

RUSSIA'S pioneers were in Alaska more than 30 years before the 13 American colonies rebelled against the rule of England's King George III. They were hunting sea otters off the California coast when no white man had ventured west of the Missouri River. They were in the Hawaiian Islands while the United States was still licking the wounds of the War of 1812.

There was no one to say them nay in Alaska, save the primitive natives who were soon subdued.

There was no one to say them nay in California, save the unimaginative and lightly armed Spaniards, who had no idea of the value of the land they occupied.

Yet the Russians merely marked time while Americans pushed relentlessly westward and possessed California at almost the very hour in history it revealed wealth that staggered the imagination.

They marked time in Alaska until it became apparent that St. Petersburg could no longer maintain her meager colonies and that it would be better to sell out than be forced out.

The last Russians left Ft. Rossiya Dec. 30, 1841. In another 25 years the Russian crown recognized "the manifest destiny of America" and opened negotiations to sell Alaska to the United States.

A bitter pill indeed for the ghosts of Rezanov, Baranov and Kuskov. An ironic climax to one of the great pioneering stories of all time.

Russia began its move to the Pacific about 1576 — a half century before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock. In 66 years, the twinkling of an eye as history measures time, they pushed eastward nearly 6,000 miles to the Sea of Okhotsk, which pounds the shores of Japan and the Kurile Islands.

By comparison, it took the Americans nearly two centuries to span about half that distance, from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

IN 1728 Vitus Bering, Danish-born sea captain in the Russian navy, charted the northern coast of Siberia, passed through the straits that now bear his name, and established that Asia and America were two separate continents.

In 1784, eight years after the American colonies declared their independence, Gregor Shelikov and his wife Natalya dropped anchor in Three Saints' Bay on Kodiak Island and established the first Russian colony in North America.

Fifteen years later Grand Duke Paul granted a royal charter to the Russian-American Co., giving it title to Alaska and the Aleutians. The compny ws lso given full The company was also given full rights to fortify towns, use ships, declare war, hold commerical intercourse, and make treaties at its own discretion.

Shelikov, whose dream it was to establish a sprawling Russian dominion in the New World, had died in the meantime. Alexander Andreevich Baranov was named head of the company.

By the time the charter was granted, Baranov had already strengthened the company's position, launched the first ship ever built in Alaska and made an uneasy peace with the natives.

Baranov organized a hunting fleet of 1,000 Aleuts that fanned out over the Pacific and returned with rich cargoes of pelts. When Yankee traders from New England sailed around the horn and into the northwest, Baranov dealt himself into their profitable trade with the Indians.

Baranov decided he needed outposts in California to supply food, reap the rich fur harvest, and serve as bases for further expansion.

In April, 1806, Nikolai Rezanov sailed into San Francisco Bay with a cargo of tools, fabrics and leather for barter with the Spanish.

DESPITE the strict law of Madrid — no colonial trading with foreigners — he soon had a full cargo of grains, meats and vegetables.

He had more than that. He had a vision of a great Russian city where the Spaniards had only a lightly defended fort and mission.

This was truly the promised land beyond the seas for Russia. The rich lands lay basking in the sun, begging for exploitation. A handful of men in tattered uniforms wouldn't stand much chance against the soldiers and sailors of the Czar.

But it was soon apparent that force might not be necessary.

Dona Concepcion de Arguello, one of California's most radiant maidens and daughter of the Spanish commandant, fell head over heels in love with Rezanov.

Here was a chance for Rezanov to further Russia's expansion by peaceful means, a method that offered him greater personal prestige than would an armed conquest by the Czar's admirals and generals.

Rezanov asked de Arguello for his daughter's hand. The commandant was flattered, but he was hesitant, too. Rezanov belonged to the Greek Orthodox church. There was no chance he would embrace the faith of Rome. To do so would cost him his career, possibly his life.

Finally, a compromise was reached:

Rezanov would take his shipload of supplies back to Sitka. Then he would go to St. Petersburg and lay before the Czar a plan for a treaty with Spain. After that he would go to Rome to seek the Pope's consent to the marriage.

Had it worked out that way, the course of California (and world) history might have been changed. The Russians would have had a solid foundation in California, an excellent base for further expansion — either by negotiation or armed might.

But, in crossing Siberia in the dead of winter, Rezanov fell from his horse into an icy stream. Next day he was feverish, but insisted on pushing forward. Several weeks later, still weak and ill, he fell from his horse again. This time a hoof struck him on the head. In a few days he was dead.

EVEN BEFORE the news of Rezanov's death drifted back to Alaska, Baranov had another plan in motion to colonize the rich lands to the south.

In 1808 he sent two ships to survey the coast from Washington to California. One, commanded by Ivan Kuskov, sailed into Bodega Bay, about 40 miles north of San Francisco. He liked what he saw — no Europeans, and land especially suitable for agriculture.

Two years later Kuskov again dropped anchor in Bodega Bay. This time he had 95 Russian colonists, a fleet of 40 skin boats manned by 80 Aleuts, and all the equipment and tools necessary to found a permanent colony.

A stockade 250 by 300 feet was built. Cannon captured in Napoleon's march on Moscow were mounted in blockhouses. Crops were planted and cattle put out to pasture. Grape vines were brought from Peru, peach trees from Chile.

Trade flourished with the Indians and Spaniards. Cargoes of foodstuffs were shipped north to the Russian settlements in Alaska.

The colony prospered, but it didn't last.

Why? Because the Russians hesitated, and were lost. Peering over their shoulders they saw hordes of Americans pressing on them from three sides. The Russians weren't prepared to negotiate for what they had, nor to fight for more.

They saw the handwriting on the wall in the Monroe Doctrine of 1823: "... the American continents are no longer subject to any European colonial establishments."

They tried to sell the colony to the British, but Britain had no desire to settle in the path of America's westward march.

FINALLY, in 1841, the Russians sold Ft. Rossiya to a Swissborn pioneer, John A. Sutter. He wanted it principally for those brass Napoleonic cannon.

It was typical Russian luck that a few years later gold was discovered in the millrace of another Sutter possession not far from the fort.

The Russian attempt to colonize Hawaii ran the same course. They established a plantation in the islands, but let themselves be kicked out when the Czar refused to support them against a militarily weak Hawaiian king.

The next 25 years saw Russia's North American possessions slipping gradually from her hands.

In 1867, the Czar's minister of finance in St. Petersburg wrote to Baron de Stoeckl:

". . . (Russia's) business in the future is to control, or at least hold her own in, the teeming markets of Japan and China, and not to contend with the British and Yankees for a fur trade that is vanishing or for gold mines that will soon be worked out . . . tell (Secretary of State) Seward that the Russian crown recognizes the manifest destiny of the United States. . . ."

Baron de Stoeckl and Seward began immediate negotiations.

In the early morning hours of March 31, 1867, Seward was playing whist with some friends in his office when he heard that the baron had received final approval of the negotiations from St. Petersburg.

He invited the baron over, swept the cards from the table, and one of history's greatest bargains went into the books.

Chapel Room Being Changed Into Wards

BUCYRUS—Conversion of a single chapel room at the Crawford County Home for the Aged east of here into two wards for ailing patients is nearing completion.

The work was authorized recently by county commissioners. One ward will be for women and the other for men. The work is being done by Don Young, Bucyrus contractor, at a total cost of $1,497 for labor and materials, the lowest of two bids received by commissioners.

In their resolution authorizing the work, the commissioners noted that the project had been recommended by Mr. and Mrs. C. Edward Ulmer, superintendent and matron of the home. Commissioners pointed out the the wards are needed due to the increase in the number of people at the home and the lack of facilities to treat those who are ill.

Plans for the new wards were approved by the state.

Greetings to the Big Stranger

If there are no whistles blowing over the congressional decision to admit Alaska to the union as the 49th state, Alaskans should not feel hurt.

Politicians did a workmanlike job of taking the shine off the occasion. Southern-fried reactionaries bled and died in the Senate to stop it because Alaskans don't believe in segregation. At one high point of silliness in the Senate debate, it was argued that Alaska should be made the 49th state to prove to the pesky Russians that . . . well, whatever it is that we must prove to the Russians.

Moreover, admitting Alaska as a state strains the credulity of most Americans because the union to them means contiguous territory. Cities, counties and states can add to themselves only territory that touches their boundaries. They cannot play hopscotch.

Alaska is not contiguous territory. It is a fifth the size of the whole United States, with a population less than that of a single congressional district; it hardly seems to qualify as a state.

It is a country, in the sense that it exists apart from the other 48 states. And in the sense that it wants to be identified with the United States without being merely a territorial possession, it would have been more logically a commonwealth than a 49th state.

However, it now is on the verge of being a state, to the embarrassment of everybody concerned, because no one knows what to do in honor of an occasion long awaited but not planned for.

It is as though a visit by a distant cousin who had gone to Alaska to live as a child had to be squared with the sudden realization that the cousin now is fully grown and due to arrive at the airport in time for lunch.

We're out of practice. It has been 46 years since we welcomed a new state, and it was different then. Arizona and New Mexico were neighbors, you might say. Not like Alaska, which is so big that at one end it is in seeing distance of the Soviet Union and at the other end is an easy airplane hop from the United States — so big southward to the latitude of Newcastle and Dublin.

Move over, Texas!

Congratulations, flag manufacturers!

Greetings, big stranger.

Yankee Leave Home!

It is time again for the annual viewing with amazement of the best educated guesses about vacation statistics. The rush to leave home turns into a stampede every year the weekend after Independence Day.

Direct "foreign aid" for European travel points is expected to be upward of 50 per cent higher than it was last year, when it poured nearly two billion dollars into the tills of European enterprise.

The American fondness for personal transportation, moreover, is booming the European industry. Purchases and rentals of cars are increasing spectacularly. Two special magnets are the Brussels World's Fair and the Lourdes Centennial.

The automobile industry at home is going to be an indirect beneficiary of the Yankee urge to leave home and go elsewhere in summer, in the sense that billions of the potential miles remaining in cars now in use will be used up on vacation trips ending sometime before Labor Day.

Economists have no ready explanation for the prospect of more travel than ever during a recession, other than to point out that Americans whose jobs have not been affected will be taking vacations as usual and many whose jobs have been affected are free to take trips as usual. The National Park Service expects a record 63,500,000 visitors, compared with last year's record of 59,300,000. New England is going after tourists hot and heavy with a "Yankee Come Home" campaign.

Last weekend in New York City's Grand Central and Penn stations, more than 30,000 boys and girls left simultaneously for vacations in summer camps. This weekend—everywhere—more than 80 million Americans of all ages will start the most ambitious project of human motion ever undertaken in one country. Practically no one is planning to stay home all summer. Sometime before Labor Day, just about everyone will go somewhere, either near or far.

Truck Drivers Supposed To Be Best

A meeting of truckers and insurance representatives in Massillon last Friday night under auspices of the Ohio Highway Patrol kicked off a statewide campaign to raise the standards of the state's best known minority of professional drivers.

The men who operate the big truck rigs on Ohio roads are assumed to be the best in the business. In the great majority of cases, the assumption is sound. They obviously are the best in the business.

But they can be given a black eye by truckers who do not come up to the standards the public has learned to expect from the majority of the professionals. The Ohio Highway Patrol, working with trucking companies and their insurers, hopes to check a deterioration of standards before it does lasting injury to the whole trucking industry.

It has been our observation over a period of years that truck drivers are supposed to be the best because they are conspicuous when they are less than the best. They are the "big men" of the highways. They set the best examples when they are good, and when they are bad they are like the little girl with the curl in the middle of her forehead—terrible.

Statistics prove that highways are getting safer all the time in terms of distance traveled. Things are moving in the right direction, and they can be given tremendous momentum by the "big men" of the highways —the professional truckers whose good driving practices set an example for everybody.

Powerful Persuader

According to the record, the St. Lawrence seaway was first talked about in 1895 when a joint committee was appointed by the United States and Canada to look into the possibilities.

In 1941, after 45 years of looking into it, the United States reluctantly reached an agreement with Canada to do something about it. But this agreement, like a previous one reached in 1932, was gathering dust in Washington until a momentous realization penetrated the minds of dozens of influential citizens.

This was the realization that the United States needed to assure itself of enough high-grade iron ore to carry it safely into the 21st century and that Minnesota ore deposits had been depleted dangerously by World War II.

From that point on, the St. Lawrence Seaway, which Canada intended to finish with or without U.S. cooperation, became a desirable U.S. project. Its restricted opening this week, guaranteeing its full-scale operation within another year, marks a triumph for the enlightened selfishness that makes the world go 'round.

The most powerful persuader is always self-interest—the availability of high-grade Labrador iron ore in this instance.

It Wasn't Easy

The State Department has released diplomatic documents that reveal the United States had learned well in advance of Germany's intention to attack Russia in 1941.

This is undeniably true, but it is not the story.

The reason U. S. diplomats knew what was coming in 1941 was named Louis Lochner. He was Associated Press correspondent in Berlin, one of the old pros in foreign correspondence.

He made it his business to know everything. He had foretold the German attack on Poland, the march into the Ruhr, the seizure of Danzig and Austria and the occupation of the Sudetenland.

The only thing that hampered Lochner in those days was the skepticism of the people he forewarned. They wouldn't believe him until what he had foretold happened, then they forgot he had told them it was going to happen.

Finally, the U.S. State Department took him seriously on the invasion of Russia—but the Russians refused to believe it. Lochner laughed about it afterward. The ineptness of diplomats tickled him particularly. They never knew anything, he insisted, because they never tried to find out anything.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Messenger—Two more policemen have been mobbed and badly injured by kid hoodlums, and there's been another schoolyard murder.

Youth Expert— This calls for more watchfulness by parents.

Psychiatrist—Also more couches. A national couch shortage is responsible. It mixes up the young.

Police Head—My men must use force—to a reasonable degree. Stern, but not too stern.

TV Chief—I'd like to stay longer but I must rush to a meeting where we're framing our annual statement that brutal routines on the living-room screen in no way influence children.

Industrial Sponsor—I've got to run along soon, too. I'm deeply concerned, but business is business and I'm meeting with the directors on our summer schedule of TV shows featuring guns, knives and jagged bottles.

MESSENGER—Beg pardon but juvenile gangs, rushing from a rock 'n' roll show, have just beat up 14 men and women, putting several in the hospital.

Psychiatrist— Like I said the children are clearly not getting the right cereal. Teachers speak sharply to them. This makes them feel rejected.

Youth Expert—We don't have enough swings in our parks.

Police Head—I must tell my men to carry clubs but resist all suggestions that they use them vigorously, of course. We mustn't be rough with a 6-foot, 175-pound hoodlum under twenty-one.

A MOTHER — My kids have been watching crime shows so long they have lost all sense of what is brutal.

TV Chief—I'm sure you haven't read the code we adopt semi-annually forbidding such things.

Industrial Sponsor—I must go now before this whole thing gets embarrassing.

Messenger — Sorry, but two juvenile gangs have clashed in a public park, using sawed-off shotguns.

All (in unison)—Obviously something must be done. I move the meeting adjourn and get out a press release.

Chorus—So voted!

Protect the Grownups

Kow-Towing Ruled Out

By David Lawrence

The Supreme Court of the United States has reaffirmed a principle of constitutional law that has a direct bearing on some aspects of the controversy over the Sherman Adams case. The principle is related to the recent furor over influences exerted by members of Congress on Communications Commission, which awards licenses for television and radio.

Lawrence

It has been erroneously assumed in the last few weeks in some quarters that the White House exercises some sort of control over the tenure of members of the independent agencies, such as the Federal Trade Commission or the Securities and Exchange Commission.

But the Supreme Court on Monday of this week, in a unanimous opinion, says that, where Congress by law does not specify a cause for removal, the members of quasi-judicial commissions cannot be dismissed by the president and that they do not, therefore, hold office subject to his will.

Justice Frankfurter's opinion of this week says that the members of these commissions cannot be removed by the president during their term of office even when Congress fails to specify any causes for removal.

A PRESIDENT'S power of removal had never in the history of the United States been the subject of any exhaustive study by the Supreme Court until Oct. 25, 1926, when it was held that the chief executive could remove a postmaster at will.

From this, it was inferred thereafter that he could remove all other officials of the federal agencies as well.

Then came the historic decision of May 27, 1935, when by 9 to 0 the Supreme Court justices overruled President Franklin D. Roosevelt's dismissal of William E. Humphrey, a member of the Federal Trade Commission whose term had not then expired.

Mr. Roosevelt said that Mr. Humphrey was all right except that his mind "did not go along" with the President's and he wanted a man of his own selection.

By the time the case was decided Mr. Humphrey had died but his heirs had sued in the court of claims for back salary and this was awarded in the 1935 decision.

The Supreme Court insisted that the Myers opinion of 1926 applied only to "all purely executive officers" and did not apply to members of quasi-judicial commissions like the Federal Trade Commission.

THE COURT expressly disapproved of the concept in the Myers case concerning a president's inherent constitutional power of removal.

Thus, in this week's opinion, Justice Frankfurter says:

"Humphrey's case was a cause celebre—and not least in the halls of Congress. And what is the essence of the decision in Humphrey's case? It drew a sharp line of cleavage between officials who were part of the executive establishment and were thus removable by virtue of the president's constitutional powers and those who are members of a body 'to exercise its judgment without the leave or hindrance of any other official or any department of the government,' as to whom a power of removal exists only if Congress may fairly be said to have conferred it."

CONGRESS HAD not specified by law any grounds for removal of the commissioner but did say the commission was to "adjudicate according to law," and that the commission was to be "entirely free from the control or coercive influence, direct or indirect," of either the executive or Congress. Justice Frankfurter added:

"If, as one must take for granted, the war claims act precluded the president from influencing the commission in passing on a particular claim, a fortiori must it be inferred that Congress did not wish to have hang over the commission the Damocles' sword of removal by the president for no reason other than that he preferred to have on that commission men of his own choosing."

But this could apply also to the necessity for confirmation by members of the Senate. So, theoretically, Congress must not be antagonized either.

If commissioners want to play politics, however, they can do so anyway but over the years the members of the quasi-judicial commissions and boards have shown their independence.

Many of the commissions have career personnel who serve indefinitely. They know the score. Scandals of improper pressure would be promptly exposed by them.

The theory, therefore, that members of independent commissions must kow-tow to the White House to retain their posts now has been completely demolished by the Supreme Court's unanimous opinion of this week.

The Good Old Days

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

Life may not have been better in the good old days—but it sure was different.

Remember when the best kind of unemployment insurance was an interest in your work?

When it was felt no baby had been properly welcomed into the world until it had been photographed naked while lying flat on its stomach on a fur rug?

HAL BOYLE

When saloons competed to see which could serve the best free lunch in town?

When more popcorn was eaten in the American home than in movies?

When, long before Paris discovered the gunny sack look, dresses made from used flour sacks were part of every country girl's basic wardrobe?

When mother always kept a can of mutton tallow on the back of the kitchen stove to grease our wet shoes? No one could even spell lanolin then.

When dogs were allowed to run free in the streets—but children weren't?

When the biggest possible blow to your financial standing was to lose your credit rating at the public library?

When the only thing more certain than death and taxes was that, if you picked up a hoptoad, you'd develop warts?

When every girl's dream of glamor was to grow long curls, just like Mary Pickford's?

When it was easy to tell you'd entered the home of a man of distinction — because the brass cuspidor in his parlor always had a dazzling polish?

When salt mackerel was a major breakfast delicacy, and a child got one orange a year—in his Christmas stocking?

When your favorite uncle was the one who could light a kitchen match by striking it on the seat of his pants?

WHEN A better sign of spring than the first robin was the old scissors grinder, back bent under the weight of his grindstone, swinging his bell as he cried, "Any scissors to grind?"

When, in the age before zippers, small girls counted the buttons on their clothing to see what kind of a man they would marry: "Rich man, poor man, beggar man—?"

When more families played "Old Maid" than bingo?

When the only member of the household who worried about his diet was the family pooch—and his problem was whether they'd leave him enough table scraps?

Skyhooks

By Truman Twill

Every time I see another picture or read another story about a helicopter delivering a cross for a church steeple, I think of Brownie, John, Ed and Frank.

The latest reminder that things are belatedly looking up is a picture from Switzerland, showing a helicopter delivering a cross to be planted on a mountaintop. I wonder if Brownie, John, Ed and Frank saw that one.

If they did, they thought what I've been thinking about this helicopter business — that someone finally invented the sky hook we used to yearn for when we belonged to the same creaking-back crew for the construction company.

Brownie, John, Ed and Frank were professional laborers. They were the hard core, or cadres, of the construction company's labor gang, which was augmented by summer workers like me.

It was my privilege for two summers and a couple of spring vacations to take intensive courses in the techniques and philosophies of the American laboring man from these experts. Brownie was the head professor. His father had been a full-blooded Indian, his mother a Negro. Ed was all Negro. Frank was a Pole. John was German. I was a Dutch-English hybrid.

We used to talk about the things a fellow could do with a sky hook if he had one handy. All the stuff that had to be taken aloft the hard way, sometimes via ladders and ramps, could be whisked up there in a jiffy with a sky hook and a pulley.

Then there were those ticklish situations when a fellow wanted to be somewhere he could not get to from where he was, as when he was separated from his destination by 20 feet of wet concrete. And situations were something needed to be hoisted straight up, but there was nothing to hoist it from.

The foreman yearned for a sky hook, too, but being a man of action he wasted no time talking about it. Speculation was the prerogative of the working stiffs whose straining backs and aching feet were going to substitute for the lighting power that otherwise could have been developed with a double pulley and just one measly little sky hook to fasten it to.

I do not understand why so little was known then about the potentialities of derricks mounted on trucks. Perhaps more was known than met the eye, because the labor rate was still less than 60 cents an hour for a 60-hour week, which made mechanization a lot less appealing than it was to become later.

The only solution to the problems that always were becoming troublesome was that mythical hook in the sky which a fellow could snag with a light line so he could pull up a rope that could be looped around the hook securely and thus lighten the burden on the aching back of mankind.

Brownie, who was getting along in years, could expound on sky hookmanship 15 minutes at a stretch, provided the foreman had stepped off the job. We five built castles in the sky with sky hooks and were among the first to master outer space.

Come to think of it, Brownie, John, Ed and Frank may be out there right now, looping light lines over sky hooks so they can scrub down the clouds with muriatic acid and make them neat and shiny.

Another Pork Barrel

By James Marlow

Pork-barrel legislation, once limited to improvements for rivers and harbors, has now taken a new turn. Liberals in Congress would provide subsidized loans to all municipalities and other units of local government.

The so-called community facilities bill has passed the Senate and has been reported out by the House Banking and Currency Committee.

Under the terms of this bill, either under the version passed by the Senate or that approved by the House committee, all sorts of community facilities and public utilities could be built with money provided by federal loans.

THE RANGE of local improvements which might be financed under the bill runs almost to the limit of anything local authorities might dream up, from hospitals to wholesale farm - produce markets.

Under the Senate version, it would have sneaked in school construction, a matter which has been thoroughly debated in two Congresses and for which no real need was ever reliably established. The House, more generous in general than the Senate, eliminated schools.

The utterly unnecessary character of this proposal to increase federal deficit financing by two billion dollars was pointed out by the minority in the House committee.

To begin with, there is no reason why municipalities cannot get the money they need from private investors. Over the past five years, more than 30 billion dollars of new state and municipal bonds have been sold, which was almost an all-time record.

Since communities could get the money they need from private investment, a substitution of federal money would not provide new jobs and help terminate the recession.

Moreover, the recession is not present in the industry that would receive the money. For the construction industry is doing well.

The Department of Commerce reports that between September, 1957 and April, 1958 public works construction increased by 1½ per cent.

The immense sale of municipal securities in the first four months of this year gives the assurance that this sector of economic life will continue its increase in prosperity.

The bill comes down to an outright bribe — or, if you would prefer a milder term, a vote-trap — for municipalities because it would essentially provide federally subsidized financing.

THE SENATE bill would permit borrowings from the Treasury at a rate of 3 to 3¼ per cent. The House Committee was more lenient. It put the borrowing rate at 2⅝ per cent.

The federal government is not getting its long-term money at any such rate.

This piece of legislation would merely add fuel to the inevitable fires of inflation. For whoever heard of a local government that dared to refuse something for nothing.

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — Among the names of officers submitted to the Senate by President Wilson to be elevated from rank of colonel to brigadier general was that of Cornelius Vanderbilt, New York millionaire.

The Interstate Commerce Commission announced that net revenues of railroads for the first five months under federal control showed a decrease of $110,364,263, compared with the same period the year before.

British casualties for the week before were listed as 29,198 men of the ranks and 704 officers.

The fifth German air raid over Paris in six nights took place early in the day and lasted but a half hour.

20 YEARS AGO — The Board of Education of the New Bloomington school district announced plans to construct a $41,818 gymnasium-auditorium addition to the present building through the aid of the Public Works Administration. The school was the third in the county to announce such a plan. Days before Waldo and Caledonia boards had revealed similar intentions.

Public sale of tickets began for a testimonial dinner in honor of Fire Chief T. J. McFarland, completing his 35th consecutive year as head of the Marion City Fire Department. The event was set for July 12 at the Marion Country Club.

10 YEARS AGO — Georgia Democrats made a surprise move by swinging officially behind Dwight D. Eisenhower for president and their junior senator, Richard Russell, for vice president. At the same time they urged President Truman to withdraw from the 1948 election "to eliminate chaos, confusion and revolt" within the party.

A 10 per cent wage increase to all hourly rated employes at the North Electric Manufacturing Co. in Galion was announced by officials.

Daily Bible Thought

"Jesus said unto them, Verily verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am." John 8:58. No one fully understands the majestic figure that strode across the pages of history nearly two thousand years ago. It is said that He emptied Himself of His majestic powers and utterly submitted to the dictation of the Father's voice. They were the Father's words and every great deed of Christ was credited by Him to the Father. He came to teach a technique by which we may become sons of God. Like Christ we must listen to God's voice and obey it utterly.

Chisox Edge by Indians 5-4 in 11-Inning Struggle

Wynn Registers Decision After Doby's 3-Run Homer

CLEVELAND (AP)—It's always tough to lose, but when Sherm Lollar drilled a single to score Jim Landis from second base in the 11th inning to give the Chicago White Sox a 5-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night, it just about broke the hearts of the Tribe.

Cleveland had battled back from a 4-0 deficit against Billy Pierce, the Sox ace southpaw who had a string of three straight shutouts working. Pierce's scoreless skein finally was broken in the seventh frame after 33 innings. He was removed after he walked in a run with the bases loaded.

Gerry Staley took over with the 4-1 lead and got out of the seventh without further scoring.

In the eighth, however, Larry Doby, as a pinch-hitter, cracked a three-run homer following walks to Rocky Colavito and Carroll Hardy. That tied it 4-4.

The Chicagoans had tagged Ray Narleski, first of four Tribe pitchers, for their first four runs. A triple by Billy Goodman and Nellie Fox' sacrifice fly made it 1-0 in the third frame.

Three straight hits, topped by a three-run homer by Lollar—same guy who won the game—featured Chicago's scoring in the sixth.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, fourth Tribe hurler who took over in the ninth and batted two White Sox rallys was the victim of an 11th inning single. Early Wynn, fourth Chicago hurler, was credited with the triumph.

The Indians don't play again until the Fourth of July doubleheader with the Detroit Tigers here.

Jets Divide Two Against Montreal

By The Ascsociated Press

It was "one man effort day" in the International League Tuesday as the loop helped its Canadian members celebrate Dominion Day. Two U.S. teams split doubleheaders in Montreal and Toronto.

The league - leading Montreal Royals won the first game of their doubleheader with the Columbus Jets 6-1 on Billy Harris' strong five-hitter and Jim Lorandas' homer and two-run double. The Jets took the nightcap 5-4 as Luis Arroyo won his seventh without defeat.

Toronto won its first game, 3-2, from Richmond as Milt Smith smacked a bases-loaded triple in the fifth inning to account for all the Leafs runs. Richmond bounced back to take the nightcap 5-2 on Bill Bethel's pitching and hitting.

Country Club Dedicates New Course

Opening of 18-Hole Layout Attracts Record Crowd

A scotch foursome tournament highlighted dedication activities at the Marion Country Club Tuesday. The occasion was the official opening of the recently-completed additional nine holes to the course.

The tourney drew 180 players, the largest field noted in club records.

EMERGING FROM the play as top teams were Richard Lister and Mrs. James Miller, scoring a net 30. Robert Hastings and Mrs. H. R. Finney, also with a 30, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Minard, posting a net 31. These three teams were recognized at a club supper later Tuesday night.

Charter members of the club were accorded the honor of teeing off first. This group included R. T. Lewis, Mrs. Edith Stoll, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Don Howard, Joe Slanser and Mrs. Rena Hunt.

A brief ceremony at 4 p.m. officially dedicated the new nine holes, with Robert A. Bagley, club president, paying tribute to all who had assisted in the project.

JACK STODDARD, club professional, was the architect for the new nine and the course was built by the Iberia Construction Co.

The course has been rearranged to put eight holes from the old nine on the back nine. Players tee off on the original No. 1, switch to the new nine for Nos. 2 through 10, and then finish out on the old course.

Par is 36-35—71 and the yardage is 2,947-3,376—6,323.

Tournament events are scheduled for the Fourth of July weekend, with a family picnic and fireworks among the other holiday attractions.

CHARTER MEMBERS. Mrs. Howard R. Stoll tees off first while seven other charter members of the club watch. They are Don Howard, Ralph T. Lewis, Mrs. Howard, C. O. Brown, Mrs. Millard Hunt, Joseph Slanser and Mrs. Brown. (Another photo on Page 19).

Independents Win 17-0

Mac's Blanked in 1-0 Duel Against Marion Merchants

A pair of shutouts highlighted softball Commercial League play Tuesday night.

The Marion Merchants took a 1-0 win from Mac's Trading Post, while the Independents walloped Trinity Lutheran Church, 17-0.

Merchant stickmen got one run on three hits and made one error in turning back Mac's. Jim Kunkle pitched, with Bob Higgins behind the plate.

Mac's got four hits and made one error. Bud England pitched with Jim Seiter catching.

THE GAME WAS strictly a pitcher's duel until the ninth frame. That's when the Merchants got the game's one and only run.

Charles Rizzo led off for Mac's with a single but the next 11 Mac stickmen went down in order before Kunkle. Carl Harbolt got a single and the next 10 men were out 1, 2, 3. Kunkle almost lost his charm in the eighth. Bud England singled and moved to third when Price was safe on an error. Then Kunkle slammed the door and the next three batters flied out.

The Merchants went down in order in the first, fifth, sixth and seventh frames. Kunkle struck out to lead off the eighth. Richards followed suit. Higgins and Charles Gruber both walked but H. Gruber was out, catcher to first, to retire the side.

In the game-winning ninth, Bus Gruber was on when hit by a pitched ball. Robertson popped out, but Bowers singled scoring Gruber.

The Independents-Trinity game was a walkaway for the former, who scored six times in the first, four in the second, five times in the third and twice in the fourth.

—:—

ALL TOLD, the Independents got 17 runs on 14 hits and made no errors. Trinity got no runs on one hit and bobbled the pill five times.

Bud Thorpe twirled for the winners, with Dick Gherman catching. Seiter and Lunquist were the Trinity battery.

The Independents got six in the first on a home run by Gherman, a triple by Winters and a round-tripper by Kempton. Gherman's blow came with the sacks jammed. Their four in the second was the result of five hits and two errors, while the five in the third came on five walks and a brace of hits. A single and a home run by Weston accounted for the pair of runs in the fourth.

Next Sunday's shoot will be a 56 Broadhead round.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching-Lew Burdette, Braves, blanked the Redlegs 1-0, allowing eight singles, walking but one and striking out two.

Hitting-Norm Larker, Dodgers, 27-year-old rookie drove in four runs in 9-3 victory over the Cardinals with a pair of homers, his first in the majors, and a double.

Homer by Mathews Defeats Redlegs 1-0

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Hal Jeffcoat, the converted outfielder, says he's had both fun and luck in relief pitching.

And he's had plenty of hard work, too.

His hardest times come like Tuesday night when he held the opposition in check but his Cincinnati Redleg teammates were paralyzed at the plate.

Milwaukee Brave ace Lew Burdette shut out the Reds, 1-0, on eight hits.

Jeffcoat took over in the sixth inning with the bases jammed and two out—a routine trouble spot for a good reliever. He calmly cut off the inning by getting Burdette on a snap grounder.

The only scoring came when Eddie Mathews whacked his 16th home run of the season into the right field bleachers in the fourth inning.

Shortstop Johnny Logan robbed the Redlegs of a chance to even matters in the ninth when George Crowe singled and Gus Bell walked. Logan darted to his right to snare a potential hit from pinch-hitter Walt Dropo and turned it into a game-ending double play.

Redleg starter Harvey Haddix had held the Braves hitless until Mathews' homer. But the sixth inning uprising was too much for him. Jeffcoat worked through the seventh and departed for a pinch-hitter. Willard Schmidt finished up.

The last of three games scheduled here comes tonight with Redleg Brooks Lawrence booked to oppose bonus pitcher Joey Jay.

Braves Claim Longest Lead Of Year in NL

By The Ascsociated Press

Are the Milwaukee Braves back in the groove now that they've managed to beat Los Angeles? Or is that 3½-game National League lead only a momentary margin while they have their hands on the Cincinnati Reds, their favorite patsies?

Either way, nobody but the champs has been that far ahead, and the Braves made it for only the second time on a shutout by Lew Burdette and a home run by Eddie Mathews that beat Cincinnati 1-0 Tuesday night. That gave Milwaukee a four-game streak since ending a nine-game Dodger jinx with two victories last weekend.

The Dodgers contributed to Milwaukee's lead with a 9-3 victory over second-place St. Louis, and the Chicago Cubs defeated third-place San Francisco 9-5. Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh 4-2.

Rookie Norm Larker hit a pair of home runs, his first in the majors, also doubled and drove in four runs for the Dodgers, who had lost three in a row. Jim Brosnan (7-6) lost it while southpaw Sandy Koufax (7-3) won his fourth in a row.

Young Moe Drabowsky (7-7) won his third in a row for the Cubs, although needing relief. Rookie Tony Taylor and Ernie Banks each rapped a pair of solo homers for the Cubs, who chased Johnny Antonelli (3-6) in the second and jumped past Cincinnati into fourth place. Daryl Spencer, Willie Mays, Ray Jablonski and Bob Schmidt homered for the Giants.

Harry Anderson drove in three

Sedgman Moves Ahead In Pro Tennis Tourney

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Sedgman of Australia holds the singles lead in the $15,000 Masters Round Robin Pro Tennis Tournament.

Sedgman had a tough fight Tuesday night to overcome Rex Hartwig, 2-6, 8-6, 6-0.

In the feature match, Pancho Gonzales played brilliant tennis to beat little Ken Rosewall 10-8, 0-6, 12-10.

Sedgman now has a 3-0 record. Gonzales is 2-1 and Pancho Segura is a big threat with 2-0. Rosewall is 1-1.

National City Team Absorbs First Reversal

In Little League baseball Tuesday night, Mac's Trading Post took a 9-8 victory from the Marion County Bank nine, while Isaly decisioned National City Bank 4-2.

It was National City's first loss of the season.

In gaining the win over Marion County Bank, Mac's had to stave off a rally that threatened to overcome a 9-4 lead in the fourth. The Bankers scored twice in both the fifth and sixth frames to come within one run of knotting the count.

All told, Mac's got nine runs on nine hits and made one error. The Bank got eight tallies on nine hits and was charged with a single bobble.

Gruber pitched for Mac's, striking out three and walking one. Caldwell started for Marion County, fanned four, issued two bases on balls, was relieved by Clemmons but still got nicked with the defeat. Clemmons fired three strikes past a trio and allowed one walk.

Mac's took an early 4-0 lead, with the Bank getting one run in its half of the first. Mac's scored once in the second for a 5-1 advantage, but Marion County made it 5-2 with one in the third. Then came Mac's big four runs in the fourth to rack up a 9-2 advantage. The Bankers added a pair in the fourth and the score was 9-4. That was all for Mac's, with the Bank getting four runs in the last two frames.

Isaly chased three runs across the plate in the first inning and added another in the third to hand National City Bank its initial defeat, 4-2. National City was held to a tally in the third and one more in the fourth.

Isaly, with Downing hurling a fine game, got four runs on two hits and made one error. The Bankmen, with Thomas and Cudd sharing mound chores, were two for three and played flawless ball. Isaly was guilty of one miscue.

Downing, who helped his own cause with a double, registered 11 strikeouts and gave up one free pass. Thomas, who was the losing pitcher, fanned seven and walked five. Cudd set four Isalymen down swinging and allowed one free trip to first. He came on in the third.

National City Bank stood atop the standings when first - round play ended with a record of 9-0. Isaly's was second, 4-5; Mac's third, 3-6; and Marion County Bank fourth with a 2-7 mark.

CHECKING NEW COURSE. Louis Bussler (second from right), president of the Iberia Construction Co. which built the new nine holes at Marion Country Club, points out an interesting feature to four club officials. They are Robert A. Bagley, club president; Alva Newell, greenkeeping superintendent; Willard Elvins, club manager, and Jack Stoddard, club professional who designed the course. (Story on Page 18)

Bob Friend (9-9) lost his fifth in a row. R. G. Smith, Bob Porterfield and Elroy Face pitched perfect relief over the last 6 2-3 innings.

Ridgedale Nine Wins

Ridgedale High School clipped Pleasant 4-3 in a Marion County League baseball game Tuesday night at the winner' field.

The Rocket nine pushed over two runs in the first and two in the third while Pleasant scored once in the first and twice in the fifth.

Fred Moore went the distance on the mound for the winners while Jeff Peacock was the losing hurler. Joe Moore banged out a double for the winners while Lowell White collected two hits. Peacock led the Pleasant attack with two hits, one a double.

Wins at Hilliards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Spud, the favorite, won the featured mile and a sixth Class C trot Tuesday night at nearby Hilliards Raceway. Doc Wil, a long shot, won the one mile Class C pace, edging Sy Abee and the Burro.

Norm Van Brocklin of the Philadelphia Eagles was the fourth leading National Football League passer last season with Los Angeles.

Reinstatement Approved for Phils' Bouchee

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ed Bouchee, Philadelphia Phillies first baseman who was restored to baseball by Commissioner Ford Frick, joins his teammates here today.

He will start against the Braves in Milwaukee Thursday.

The four-game Milwaukee series may prove the testing ground for Bouchee's comeback in the game he says will provide the best therapy of all.

"This was a medical case," Phils Manager Mayo Smith said. "Bouchee is evidently cured and we are happy to have him back. I'll start him at first base Thursday at Milwaukee. He has been working out regularly in Philadelphia and probably will give our club a lift."

Under indefinite suspension since he pleaded guilty to a morals charge in Spokane, Wash., Feb. 20, the 25-year-old Bouchee was given another chance when Frick, at a news conference in New York, announced the reinstatement.

"It was the only decision I could live with," Frick said.

"I have made an exhaustive study of all the evidence, and I am convinced that Bouchee is completely cured. All the doctors and the probation officers who have been assigned to this case have recommended his return to baseball. I am assuming sole and complete responsibility."

A little over three months after the offense, Bouchee was placed on three years probation by a judge in Spokane. A psychiatrist testified that he suffered from compulsive exhibitionism, an aberration resulting from emotional illness. His offense was indecent exposure involving two young girls.

Jim Owens, 31-year-old University of Washington football coach, served six years under coach Paul (Bear) Bruant, three at Kentucky and three at Texas A. & M.

ONLY GOEBEL IS BREWED WITH CRYSTILLED WATER

THE GOEBEL BREWING CO.—DETROIT, MICHIGAN

ONLY GOEBEL HAS IT! The equipment shown here crystills water. It's a Goebel exclusive! No other brewery in Michigan or the entire U.S.A. has anything to compare with it. Bear in mind, this is not just an ordinary water-filtering device. It's a patented purifying system. That's why no other brewer in our nation can produce a beer that is so delightful in taste, or of such uniform excellence, as Goebel Private Stock 22.

GOEBEL GOES NATURE ONE BETTER! All beers begin with water. But wonderful as our Michigan water is, it still contains elements harmful to the quality and flavor of beer. To solve this problem, Goebel installed their revolutionary crystilling equipment. It produces water that is purer, more refreshing than the finest mountain spring water . . . purer than nature's best!

YOU CAN TASTE THE DIFFERENCE! Thanks to Crystilled water—a Goebel exclusive—the Goebel Private Stock 22 beer you find at your dealer's is the lightest, most uniformly flavorful Goebel ever. Taste the difference crystilling makes. Ask for Goebel—the beer with the bright blue label—the beer that's better to begin with.

Ted Williams, Jensen Spark Bosox to Win

By The Associated Press
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been Mantle and Berra for the New York Yankees; Kaline and Kuenn for Detroit. But Boston has the Boom-Boom boys of the moment, with Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen crashing nine homers and driving in 20 runs between them in the Red Sox' last five games.

The Big Guy and Jensen, who is closing in on his best slugging season in the majors after taking the American League home run lead with 14 in June, each smacked two-run shots that powered the Red Sox to a 10-5 victory over Washington Tuesday night.

It was Jensen's 24th of the year, two shy of his 1955 high of 26, and fifth in four games for a total of 11 RBI. Williams, the most enduring 39-year-old since Jack Benny went square and turned 40, hammered his 12th home run, added two singles and picked up a third RBI as the Red Sox won their third in a row with a 4-1 record.

Trail by a Game

That put third place Boston within nine games of the leading Yankees, who split a twi-night pair at Baltimore, winning 2-1 after a 7-5 loss. Kansas City stayed a half game ahead of Boston with 5-1 victory at Detroit. Chicago defeated Cleveland 5-4 in 11 innings after the Indians had chased White Sox ace Billy Pierce.

Williams, the defending AL bat champ, busted past .300 for the first time this season, hitting .308, while walloping his 400-foot homer in a three-run third inning against loser Hal Griggs (3-5). Jensen smacked his in a three-run sixth off Chuck Stobbs for his 1,100th hit in nine major league seasons.

Loes Wins First

Bad Boy Billy Loes, who had lost seven straight, won his first in relief when Baltimore overhauled a Yankee lead with five in the fifth. Billy Gardner's three-run triple capped it against losing reliever Duke Maas (4-7). Don Larsen (7-1) homered for a 1-1 tie, then won the nightcap on Mickey Mantle's 16th home run, second of the night, in the eighth inning off Jack Harshman (6-7). Gene Woodling, 5-for-8 in the pair, homered for the Birds.

Bob Cerv's 21st home run got the A's started and they clinched Ned Garver's eighth victory, first in a month, in the sixth on two-run singles by Hector Lopez and Harry Chiti. Frank Lary lost his sixth. Garver allowed only five hits, three by Ozzie Virgil, and lost his shutout in the eighth on Bob Hazle's first AL home run.

Elks Down Eagles In Pony-Grad Play

Two Pony-Grad baseball games were played Tuesday night. The Elks banged out a 9-7 win over the Eagles in one fracas while the Moose forfeited a game to the Moulders when unable to field a full team.

The victorious Elks scored 9 runs on 11 hits and made two errors in beating the Eagles. The latter wound up with 7 runs on 10 hits and 5 bobbles.

The victors scored two runs in the first, added another in the second, two in the fourth and four in the sixth. Eagle stickmen got to Elks hurler Larkin for five runs in the second, one more in the third and a final tally in the seventh.

Dulin was on the mound for the Eagles and was tagged with the loss. Larkin went the route for the Elks and notched the win.

Crowe, Evans, Larkin and Jones each had a pair of safeties for the Elks. Davis and Kiehm were the big men for the Eagles, getting a triple and double respectively.

The win was No. 3 in a row for Elks hurler Larkin.

Two American Golfers Seek British Crown

ST. ANNE'S-ON-SEA, England (AP) — American influence in the British Open golf championship today is at its lowest point in 40 years.

Some three or four decades back, Americans were the big winners in the hallowed tournament once considered the last word in international golf competition.

There was Bobby Jones, for example, who won the championship in 1926 — when the first four finishers were American — 1927 and 1930.

And they're still talking at St. Anne's of Walter Hagen, the flamboyant winner in 1922, 1924, 1928 and 1929.

Hogan Last Winner

The last U.S. winner was Ben Hogan, who brought tremendous control to bear to win a nip and tuck battle in 1953.

Then there is Gene Sarazen, the 1932 winner — and the only American professional left in the 1958 tournament.

Carrying the flag with Sarazen, as the tournament proper got under way today after two days of qualifying rounds is a young Hillsboro, Tex., golfer on leave from Army duty in Germany.

He is Montie Bradley, who racked up an aggregate 148 that hit the qualifying score on the nose.

Why don't more Americans show up for the Open these days?

There seem to be two big reasons: money and timing.

$14,000 Top Prize

The prize money of $14,000 can hardly attract U.S. golfers who have a chance at $25,000-$50,000 purses in domestic tournaments running at the same time as the British Open.

There is talk among officials at St. Anne's of scheduling the Open in autumn, when American golfers would be freer to consider.

But so far it's just talk.

Fish, Game Group Planning Ox Roast

President Robert Gebby presided over the regular monthly meeting of the Marion County Fish and Game Association last night at the Clubhouse with 75 members in attendance.

The group has signed up to participate in the pheasant raising program of the Division of Wildlife.

New members were introduced with total membership now standing at 640. Monthly mailings of the bulletin "Marion County Fish and Game Association Conservationist" now total 916.

Work parties are engaged in painting and preparing equipment for the annual ox roast to be held July 19. Ox Roast chairman Francis Warwick announced various subcommittees are hard at work in preparation for the big event. The ox roast is open to the public with food, refreshments and entertainment available for all ages. Tickets are available from officers and trustees and many of the members.

Two films were shown. One, "Forests of the Future," showed modern forestry conservation practices, now referred to as "tree farming." The other one, "River Beyond," showed boating the current and rapids of the Rogue River of Oregon.

Pekach Leaves Post at LaRue

Mike S. Pekach, football and basketball coach at LaRue High School, today announced he had resigned his position. The resignation was handed to the LaRue board last week and becomes effective immediately, he said.

The former Indian coach has no definite plans for next year but reported he hoped to line up another coaching assignment or move into the administrative school field.

Pekach has been at the LaRue helm for three years and during that time has built the Indians into a national six-man football power. His teams currently boast the longest win streak in the nation at 14 straight. In the three years, Pekach has seen his grid squads lose only two games while rolling to 20 victories. During the same period, his cage teams have posted a 33-27 overall mark.

Prior to coming to LaRue, Pekach was in the Berwind, W. Va., school system where he was in charge of junior high school athletics, coaching 11-man football.

A native of Morgantown, W. Va., Pekach is a graduate of West Virginia University. He is the father of two sons, Randy, 6, and David, six months. He is employed for the summer at the Marion Engineer Depot.

By JOHN CROSBY

Last of the Season for 'Playhouse 90'

JOHN CROSBY

of "The Great Gatsby," its last live new production of the season before the reruns set in, opened with a party scene in which the band was playing "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby" and Daisy Fay, the F. Scott Fitzgerald heroine, sold kisses for $100 War Bonds and spoke in a "voice full of money." All these things reek of the '20s, perhaps a little too much so, a little too obviously, a little too conspicuously.

"Gatsby" is a superbly organized novel, beautifully and almost hauntingly written. Still, there is about it an air of immaturity toward wealth, toward love and — well, toward life itself that is almost concealed by its style and organization.

FAR FROM being well organized, David Shaw's adaptation was so disorganized that a good part of the meaning of the novel got misplaced.

Without either the style or the organization, the emphasis fell unhappily on the character of Gatsby and, so far as I'm concerned, Gatsby never resembled anyone living or dead.

I don't know what kind of guy Gatsby is and I don't think Fitzgerald did either. Part of the charm of the novel is the shadowy quality of the hero; in the TV version Gatsby became not so much shadowy as just thin and watery. I can't believe a man like that ever existed.

If I understood Fitzgerald correctly, his whole point in the novel was that wealthy people operated by a different set of standards than anyone else; they drifted about, smashing up lives without being aware that that was what they were doing.

Outsiders like Gatsby who tried to impose a different set of values on people like Daisy just got hurt, almost ignored, or, as it were, run over by indifference as Myrtle actually was run over by Gatsby's automobile.

THIS IS a very sound point and Fitzgerald knew exactly what he was talking about, since it almost happened to him and he never got over it.

Shaw, however, has done some serious monkeying with the plot. His story was that of a couple of star-crossed lovers. His Daisy was forced into a marriage she did not want and mooned about unhappily over a Gatsby she believed to be dead.

That transformed the story into a lot of romantic nonsense. The characters acted like people in a sort of grown-up dancing class whose wishes and habits and lives don't resemble anything in my experience.

Franklin Schaffner, who directed it, had an enormous set at his disposal and he used the space with profligate extravagance. There were great overhead shots; long, moving shots up staircases and down staircases, and peekings through balustrades and out windows.

I couldn't get over the feeling that Gatsby's place was a setting and not a home at all. (And, in a way, that's what it was in the book.)

THE GREAT SCENES in the Hotel Plaza, in the garage, at the party in Gatsby's house which lift the book out of the ordinary simply weren't in the "Playhouse 90" production at all or were so severely modified that they lost most of their power.

It's too bad, because Fitzgerald's stories have been awfully moving television up to now. Even botched as this production was, Fitzgerald's style has its flashes of genius and evocation. You get the feeling that you are in the presence of an original artist.

I'm afraid I can't even say much for the acting. Jeanne Crain is a mighty pretty girl but, I thought, a patently insincere Daisy, although some of her troubles might be traced back to the writing.

Robert Ryan's Gatsby was a puzzlement, but then I don't know that any other actor could have made it less so. Even with all these carping complaints, I'm happy "Playhouse 90" ended its season on a note of importance, of aspiration, of high endeavor. At least they were aiming high and I hope they continue that way.

During the summer, "Playhouse 90" will rerun some of its more successful shows of the year on tape. Among them will be "Last Clear Chance," with Paul Muni and Luther Adler; "Thundering Wave," with Franchot Tone and James Mason; "Portrait of a Murderer," with Tab Hunter and Geraldine Page; "Right-Hand Man," with Anne Baxter and Dana Andrews, and "Point of No Return" with Charlton Heston and Hope Lange.

Leasing Facilities

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Senate Armed Services Committee approves, the Army will lease industrial facilities in three Ohio cities. They are Lima Ordnance Steel Foundry, Ravenna Arsenal at Apco in Portage County, and Ridgewood Ordnance Plant in Cincinnati.

The House Armed Services Committee approved the Army proposals Tuesday.

The U.S. leads the world in production of coal, iron, oil and silver. Russia ranks second in each of these products.

Highway Dept. Prints 50,000 Land-Buying Policy Booklets

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Highways has put in brown and buff—that's right, not black and white—exactly how it goes about buying land for highways.

It is in the midst of getting out 50,000 pamphlets printed with brown ink on buff colored paper answering such questions as:

Who says we need better highways? How is the location of a new route determined: When can you learn the location of a project and voice your opinions on it? How does the state arrive at its money offer for land? What if only part of a piece of property is needed? What happens if the land owner turns down the state's offer? Can the land owner retain or salvage his buildings?

The pamphlets will be distributed at informal meetings with land owners and at public hearings and county fairs. They bear the endorsement of Gov. C. William O'Neill who writes:

"A democracy cannot grow without the right to acquire the lands it needs, but, at the same time it cannot exist unless the rights of every citizen are vigorously protected."

In most cases, three appraisers value the land needed for highway relocations. The property owner is offered the highest appraisal figure acceptable to the department and can point out facts he thinks were passed over by the appraisers. If he's not satisfied with the offer, he can go to court.

In the same pamphlet, Highway Director Charles M. Noble says, "We wish to emphasize that our right-of-way acquisition policy assures the property owner of a fair price for land without enriching him unduly at the expense of his fellow taxpayer."

The price is based on the market value of the property, Noble says.

Work Stoppages Cut

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Strikes and lockouts caused several thousand Ohio workers to lose an average of 4½ hours of work last year, the Ohio Department of Industrial Relations reported Tuesday. The department said there were 355 work stoppages involving 151,000 workers, a record postwar low.

Xenia Trial Is Delayed To Permit Sanity Test

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—The manslaughter trial of Roger Leib, 47, of Springfield, was halted Tuesday and he was committed to Lima State Hospital for 30 days observation to determine if he is sane.

The sanity of the defendant was questioned when Leib, who went on trial Monday in the April 11 death of Mrs. Vera M. Gibbs, 28, also of Springfield, refused to return to the courtroom after the noon recess. Leib was eventually brought back in a strait jacket.

County Coroner Hugh C. Schick ruled that Mrs. Gibbs, beaten, thrown from a car and hit by another auto, was dead before she was struck by the car. When arrested, Leib admitted he had beaten the woman and thrown her into a ditch.

Better Protection For Rail Crossing Studied by PUCO

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Utilities Commission inspectors are checking a Ross County railroad crossing where three 17-year-old youths lost their lives in an accident March 21.

The youths died after their car and a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad freight train collided at the crossing in the village of Vigo.

After the accident, the Ross County Safety Council Committee, headed by C. C. Bumgarner; the Southeastern Local School District and U. S. Rep. James G. Polk requested better crossing protection.

Tuesday the commission made a formal case of the matter and gave the railroad 15 days to answer the complaint. Polk told the commission the railroad's president, H. E. Simpson, said the railroad itself is investigating at the crossing.

The school district said six buses carry 360 students over the crossing every school day and asked that flasher lights be installed. Bumgarner said at least two other persons have lost their lives at the crossing.

Death Penalty Carried Out in West Virginia

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Larry Paul Fudge of Huntington, a prayer on his lips, went to his death Tuesday night in the West Virginia Penitentiary electric chair.

The handsome 26-year-old son of a religious family received the first shock at 8:59 p.m. (EST) and two others at five-minute intervals. Fifteen minutes later, two physicians stepped to the electric chair and after an examination pronounced Fudge dead.

Fudge was sentenced to death for the rape-slaying of Mrs. Inez Booth of Huntington, 51-year-old wife of a former city councilman.

He had grown up with the victims's two sons. He was a honor student in high school. Somewhere along the way he made a wrong turn, spent five years in a federal prison for extortion. The slaying occurred last Jan. 4, soon after he was released from prison.

For his last meal, Fudge ordered tomato juice, lettuce and olive salad, steak, french fried potatoes, green beans and watermelon. Iced tea and lemonade were brought to him all day in his cell.

Fudge awaited death calmly and resolutely during the day. A final plea to Gov. Cecil H. Underwood for commutation failed.

"I have not found any extenuating circumstances which would justify an act of clemency on my part," said the governor.

Warden Deniven E. Adams said Fudge was a model prisoner.

Eisenhower, First Lady Mark 42nd Anniversary of Wedding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three generations of the Eisenhower family went on a Potomac River cruise Tuesday night to celebrate the 42nd wedding anniversary of the President and his wife.

The 3 hour and 40 minute ride was aboard the 90-foot presidential cabin cruiser Barbara Anne named for one of President Eisenhower's granddaughters.

The President and the First Lady slipped away from Washington's hot weather, together with their son and daughter-in-law, Army Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, and their four children.

In addition to Barbara Anne, 9, the youngsters are David, 10, Susan, 6, and Mary Jean, 2.

The family enjoyed a picnic supper of hamburgers and potato salad as the gleaming white cruiser traveled down the Potomac a bit beyond George Washington's home at Mount Vernon, Va.

Eisenhower was seated on the fantail deck in his shirtsleeves, along with other members of the family, when the Barbara Anne docked. Smiling broadly, he came down the gangplank with a gift box in one hand. Granddaughter Mary Jean held the other hand.

Rhyming Problem

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Alaska became the 49th state, song writers Sammy Fain and Paul Francis Webster began rewriting one of the key songs for the forthcoming film "Mardi Gras."

The original title was "Bigger Than Texas." They have changed it to "Bigger Than Alaska." But the song writers admit a rhyming problem.

The song deals with love that is bigger than. . . .

Morrow To Gain Four New Bridges

Construction of five new bridges in Coshocton and Morrow counties will get under way soon, the Ohio Department of Highways announced today.

Bids on the projects will be opened Tuesday, July 8, by the department in Columbus. Work is expected to get under way shortly after award of the contracts. Construction is scheduled for completion by Aug. 31, 1959.

In Morrow County, four new bridges and a culvert will be constructed on State Rt. 19, east of West Point. The existing weak and narrow structures, none of which is over 20 feet wide, will be replaced by roadway width bridges.

New bridges will span the East Branch of Whetstone Creek, Hirth Run, Whetstone Creek and Snyder Run. A 72 inch pipe culvert will be constructed at Goff Run.

Estimated cost is $170,000.

O'Neill Hits Trail, DiSalle Ready

Political Campaigning Off to Fast Start in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio candidates are hitting the election campaign trail earlier than usual this year.

Democrats, scenting victory, appear eager to nail down non-presidential election year advantages often conceded to those out of office looking in.

Republicans, conceding nothing, are fighting for jobs that for the first time on the state level will be for four years.

Recovering from recession chills and special session jitters, GOP Gov. C. William O'Neill got off to a fast start with a well attended picnic in Lebanon.

About 5,500 were served and party workers estimated 6,000 turned out for the affair last Friday at the Warren County Fairgrounds.

—:—

BY COINCIDENCE, a statewide Democratic caravan will start from Lebanon next Tuesday. Some Democrats jokingly referred to the caravan as a "truth squad" to counter Republican claims.

The motorcade on July 15 will visit Chillicothe where O'Neill and other Republicans will appear on July 10 for the second in a series picnics.

Both parties will warm up in rural areas and smaller cities this summer for the final rounds next fall in vote-heavy population centers.

After the governor's picnics conclude in Findlay on Aug. 8, Republicans will form their own campaign caravan. If present plans work out, they will equip it with wings for a blitz by plane.

Democrats, who claim they are hurting for lack of funds, will depend on motorcades, for the most part, in the hope of greeting more voters.

THEY WILL concentrate on congressional districts. Starting with a breakfast in Lebanon's Golden Lamb Hostelry, they will go to Wilmington for a second breakfast, a coffee break in London, a bean dinner in Marysville, more coffee breaks in Bellefontaine and Urbana and dinners in Springfield and Xenia.

Michael V. DiSalle, making a second bid to upset O'Neill; Stephen M. Young, opposing Republican U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker, and other aspirants for state, district and local offices will be featured.

Half the speakers will address the Springfield dinner while the other half entertain in Xenia. They will trade speaking platforms during the evening to keep the shows going full blast.

That will be the pattern so far as possible throughout the congressional areas with a caravan wind-up at Warren in the 11th District.

O'NEILL BARELY got to his first picnic in Lebanon. A deadlock on the final day of the special session kept him at his desk working to save the billboard ban law that barely won legislative approval.

He cancelled a glass plant tour in Newark, a luncheon at nearby Granville and an appearance at a veterans' affair in Cincinnati earlier in the day. A private plane stood by in Columbus for about three hours before the governor could take off for Lebanon during an evening recess of the legislature. Other candidates filled in until he appeared. O'Neill was back in Columbus within two hours.

Aides said the suspense only heightened interest at the Lebanon affair. They asserted that O'Neill, aided by heavy GOP majorities in the legislature, got about what he wanted from the session that could have cost him much politically.

SO CONFIDENT were Democrats of trouble for O'Neill that their state chairman, William Coleman, and an aide, made an unusual appearance at the opening. They conferred afterward with Democratic legislators on the house floor during a recess.

After it was all over, Coleman declined to evaluate the political effect of the session on the election campaigns until he had time to survey the situation.

Republicans were less reluctant. Their observations ranged from an assertion that O'Neill was "over the reelection hump" to more conservative estimates that he held his own by avoiding potential pitfalls.

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

A Marion driver was arrested in the single Marion County accident reported today by local post state highway patrolmen. It occurred on Rt. 23, five miles south of city limits at 5:20 p.m.

Investigating officers said a northbound car driven by Vance K. Larmar, 30, of near Republic stopped behind a line of traffic when the vehicle was struck in the back end by a car driven by John P. Hudkins, 29, of 772 Central Dr.

Charged with failure to stop within assured clear distance, Hudkins will appear in Municipal Court at a later date. His auto was badly damaged while considerble damage was done to the Larmar car patrolmen said.

City police reported one accident.

Man Injured in Crash

One person was injured in the only accident investigated Tuesday by Marion police.

Taken to Marion General Hospital was K. N. Mullin, 63, of 289 E. Fairground St., who suffered neck and shoulder injuries in a collision in the 600 block of Darius St. He was treated for his injuries and released.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Clarence E. Dawson, 58, of 888 Oak Grove Ave. The Dawson car was struck from the rear by a vehicle driven by Theodore Hall, 45, of 818 Underwood St., police said.

Hall told police his brakes failed.

Tax Distributions Planned in County

County Auditor Maurice C. Clements said today he expects to distribute to governmental subdivision next Tuesday the $368,550 in general and personal property tax money collected for the first half of 1958.

He said he has submitted an abstract of the collections to the state auditor's office and expected to receive approval of the distribution today.

The personal tax collection for the first half of the year totaled $296,879 and the classified tax collection amounted to $71,671, the auditor said. The total of both collections this year represents a $53,642 increase over collections for the first half of 1957, Mr. Clements said.

Main factors contributing to the increase, he explained, were higher tax rates and a larger number of taxpayers.

Collection of delinquent taxes this year brought in $32,123, Mr. Clements said. Delinquent personal tax collections totaled $28,419 and delinquent classified taxes totaled $3,704.

Budget Approved By Library Board

The Marion Carnegie Library board of trustees approved a budget committee report proposing an operating budget of $67,050 for 1959 at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday noon at the library.

The budget request will be submitted to the Marion County auditor for consideration by the budget commission. Ohio libraries are supported primarily by intangible tax collections.

In other business the board approved the rental of a building in Caledonia from the IOOF at $35 a month, authorized the payment of bills totaling $1,418.58, and approved the hiring of Ronald Dalton as a page. All board members were present.

Placed on Probation

Roy Otto Blair, 37, of 210 N. Grand Ave. was placed on probation for five years Tuesday after pleading guilty in Common Pleas Court to a charge of non-support. He had earlier pleaded innocent to the charge.

Blair was indicted by the grand jury in April and recently was returned to Marion after a 30-day observation period at the Lima State Hospital. His court-appointed attorney was Theodore P. Frericks.

Fighting Continues in Lebanon

New Assault by Rebels Predicted by Chamoun

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Camille Chamoun says Lebanese rebels under Syrian command may launch a strong attack on the northern port of Tripoli at any moment.

But if this attack and one from the area southeast of Beirut are "beaten completely, the armed rebellion will collapse as a military movement," the pro-Western President said.

Rebel Attack Repulsed

He was interviewed Tuesday as government jet fighters, armored cars and artillery turned back an attack from the southeast toward the Beirut International Airport. Chamoun claimed this assault was part of an all-out attempt to capture Beirut and overthrow his government.

The President said Druze tribesmen under Socialist Kamal Jumblatt were trying to link up with rebels under former Premier Saeb Salam who occupy the Basta Moslec quarter of the capital.

"I think they have been stopped," the President said.

Fighting without armor or artillery support, the mountaineers reached hill positions five miles from the airport. Government security forces and irregular supporters claimed they inflicted heavy rebel losses in protecting the vital field. It is Lebanon's only base for jet fighters, which have proved invaluable against the rebels, who lack aerial support.

But a member of the pro-government irregulars fighting in the hills above the airport said his men are threatening to quit the fight unless the government sends immediate reinforcements. The informant said his men were exhausted after three days of hard fighting. He put irregular losses today at two killed and six wounded by the rebels and another four killed accidentally by government mortars.

Artillery Active

In Tripoli, where riots May 10 opened the rebellion, government artillery was active Tuesday. The rebels said 22 persons were killed, but this figure appeared high.

Chamoun said he had reports from Tripoli that Syrian officers had taken over military command after rebel leader Raschid Karami and his top lieutenant, Abdul Magaed Rafini, had a falling out.

The President added he had conclusive information that the rebels around Tripoli have been promised heavy mortars from Syria with Syrian artillerymen to man them. When these arrive, he continued, an attack may be launched, "but we expect the (government) defense to be very strong."

Chamoun said before asking for a U.N. police force to seal the Lebanese-Syrian border, he would give the U.N. observers' group time to size up the aid his government claims the rebels are getting from the United Arab Republic. And he will not ask for U.S. or British intervention so long as Lebanese forces are able to fight successfully, he said.

Infant Electrocuted

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP)—Two-year-old John Robert Huntley was electrocuted Tuesday from an apparent short circuit in an electric drill which the boy's father and uncle had been using at his home here. The drill, with the power on, was left on a garage floor where the child came in contact with it.

Prisoner Seeking Release on Writ

A 40-year-old Norwalk man who faces possible extradition to Texas on a theft charge filed a petition in Common Pleas Court Tuesday for release from the county jail on a writ of habeas corpus.

He is Roy E. Sheppard who was arrested early last month upon parole from the Marion Correctional Institution after serving two years of a grand larceny sentence.

Extradition proceedings were continued indefinitely in Common Pleas Court last week after the court refused to release Sheppard to the custody of a Texas deputy sheriff. The court ruled the extradition order was defective because the deputy appeared in place of the sheriff who was designated to return Sheppard.

No hearing date has been set for Sheppard's application for a writ of habeas corpus. He is represented by Frank Wiedemann.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved irregularly early this afternoon as trading slackened. Leading issues showed gains or losses running from fractions to about a point.

The mixed tone prevailed since the opening as the market found the going tough. Prices bumped close to the 1958 peak reached in mid-June.

Aircrafts, steels and rubbers showed plus signs. Selected gainers appeared among oils, nonferrous metals and utilities.

Trading in Humble Oil was suspended temporarily on the American Stock Exchange following news that Standard Oil (New Jersey) was contemplating making an offer of about five shares of Jersey for four shares of Humble. The latter rose 2¼ points. Jersey dropped more than a point.

Union Oil of California eased at the start, steadied and showed a small net gain. American Viscose was up a good fraction. Alaska Juneau continued active and fractionally higher. Goodrich was a 2-point gainer.

Most coppers were higher. Phelps Dodge rose a good fraction. Kennecott, Magma and Revere were up around a point each.

U.S. Gypsum was down about a point. Smaller losses were taken by Chrysler, International Harvester, American Smelting, Union Carbide, American Tobacco, General Electric, Illinois Central and Ohio Oil.

Negro's Home Bombed, Five Escape Injury

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—A Negro's frame dwelling on the fringe of a white neighborhood was blasted early today, but none of the five occupants was hurt.

Detective Capt. C. R. Adair said an explosive—probably dynamite—was thrown against the house at 12:30 a. m. and caused considerable damage. All windows in the house and numerous windows in nearby dwellings were shattered.

The house was occupied by Mrs. Essie Mae Ellison and an Army sergeant, his wife and their two children.

Mrs. Ellison said she bought the house from a white owner in April and moved in a month ago. She said there had been no previous trouble.

Tuesday night an anonymous telephone caller profanely told newsmen of plans to bomb the Masonic Temple where the Rev. Martin Luther King later addressed a Masonic fellowship rally.

No disturbance occurred, however, at the Masonic Temple.

King, leader of the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott, spoke on the delay of school integration at Little Rock, Ark. He said the delay recently granted by Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley would serve as a green light to violent forces in the South.

Galion United Appeal Group Given Budgets

GALION — Agency budgets for the coming year were presented and turned over to the budget committee at a meeting of the newly appointed board of directors of the United Appeal Tuesday night. It was held at the North Electric Co. with 20 of the 26 members present.

The budget committee, composed of Albert Ritzhaupt, Phil Moleno and Robert Ricksecker, will review the budget requests and have a report ready for approval at the next meeting of the board July 24.

The naming of a campaign chairman for the coming year is a major concern of the board. William Allwine who successfully conducted the first campaign of the United Appeal last year declined to serve again this year when he was asked to do this. He has offered to assist the chairman whom the board selects.

Names were suggested for the post and they will be turned over to a committee to be named by the board president, Alan Ryon. The committee will make recommendation and also will be responsible for assisting the chairman and Mr. Allwine in campaign planning.

Mr. Allwine was presented with a citation Tuesday night by Robert Ricksecker on behalf of the American Red Cross for his service in last year's drive.

Copies of the revised proposed code of operations, submitted by a committee composed of Robert Melish, Kenneth Petri, Robert Slemmer and the Rev. Rutherford E. Everest, were distributed. The revisions were reviewed and discussed, but action to accept them was postponed until the next meeting in order to give all members an opportunity to study them.
